

Cancervive team shares hope and art

Six members of the Cancervive cycling team, including former Hatter Bryan Lunge, stopped by Medicine Hat Regional Hospital Aug. 12.

The Cancervive members are cycling from Calgary to Philadelphia in hopes of raising $400,000 for cancer care. The Medicine Hat Cancer Clinic was the first of five along their route to receive a colourful mural donation.

The mural, painted by the team, will hang outside the doors of the Cancer Clinic, serving as a source of cheer and a beacon of hope for everyone battling cancer.

“Aren’t they awesome?” asked Dr. Marc Trudeau, Medical Director of the Cancer Clinic, of the six cyclists. “The day we find a cure for cancer, I’ll be happy to resign.”

Bryan Lunge pulls up with his team.

Members of the Cancervive cycling team hold up the six pieces of the mural donated to the Medicine Hat Cancer Clinic.
